Major Lunar Standstill Celebration @ Chimney Rock National Monument

Chimney Rock National Monument will host a live event at the Amphitheater to explore the current Major Lunar Standstill at this important Native American site and its relationship to Stonehenge and other worldwide locations. This presentation will feature telescopes and stargazing under the Monument's majestic dark skies; presentations on astronomy, archaeology and culture from leading experts; Native American music; light refreshments for purchase; and, most importantly, a live-streamed viewing of the waning gibbous Moon rising between the natural pinnacles. Chimney Rock National Monument is one of a few places on Earth where the Moon rises between two natural rock pillars during a MLS. Because access to the upper area of the Monument requires strict restrictions for safety concerns, this event will be held in the accessible, outdoor Amphitheater near the Visitor Center. And there – after a wonderful program preceding the event – the long awaited and anticipated rise of the Moon between the pinnacles will be shared via satellite from our crew on the upper mesa. Check in 8-8:45pm, Program 9-10:20pm. Adults $20, Children 5-12 $10, Under 5 Free.
