A FEW
HIKING REMINDERS

SET EASY TO ACHIEVE OBJECTIVES
Unless backpacking, plan to return well before dark.

THINK SAFETY
Take wet weather gear, map, water, and snacks. Always travel with a friend and let someone know where you are going.

HAVE A MAP
The map on the reverse side will direct you to the various trail heads. However, it is a good idea to pick up a National Forest map as it more clearly shows all access roads and trails.

BE AWARE OF ALTITUDE
All of the hikes described herein begin at altitudes above 8,000 feet. Several reach to 12,000 feet at their summit.

KNOW YOUR LIMITS
Each hike is labeled “easy” to “difficult.” Only individuals in good physical condition should attempt the difficult hikes.

REMEMBER...
When you go downhill, you will have to climb back up when you return!

BE COLO-READY!
“DRESS IN LAYERS!” ARE WORDS TO LIVE BY.
Our dramatic elevation changes mean we can ski in the mountains and then drop a few thousand feet to bike or drink a craft brew on a sunny patio.

North of Downtown

1. FALLS CREEK TRAIL (#673) & FOURMILE FALLS
Hike leads to a beautiful 300' waterfall.
To get there: Take Lewis Street North, veer left immediately on 5th street; stay right on Fourmile Road 8 miles; (CR 400 /FS 645); right at junction to the trailhead - elevation is 9,200 feet.
The Hike: 3 miles each way. The first 3 miles to Falls Creek Falls is relatively easy with gently rolling terrain through an open valley. After the waterfall, the trail becomes steep and is not recommended for stock. Hikers should proceed with caution. There are longer day hikes and backpacking loop options available. It is an additional 1 mile to Fourmile Falls. Please reference a forest service or topographical map for more information.

2. ANDERSON TRAIL (#579)
Features impressive views of the eastern edge of Pagosa Peak.
To get there: Take Lewis Street North, veer left immediately on 5th street; stay right on Fourmile Road 8 miles; (CR 400 /FS 645); right at junction to trailhead. Trailhead elevation is 9,200 feet.
The Hike: This trail begins at the Fourmile Trailhead, to the left of the Fourmile Trail. The trail climbs steadily for about 4 miles to skirt the east side of Pagosa Peak (11,200'). This trail does not go to the peak. The summit of Pagosa Peak is 12,640'. At Fourmile Lake, Anderson Trail junctions with the old Fourmile Trail. The hike to Fourmile Lake is 8 miles from the trailhead one way, with the trail ascending 2,600 feet. This trail can be combined with the Fourmile Trail as a loop, recommended as an overnight trip. Please reference a forest service or topographical map for more information.

Highway 160 East

3. COAL CREEK TRAIL (#581)
Great Mountain Views.
To get there: Access point #1 - Hwy 160 East for 3.5 miles; turn right on Fawn Gulch Road (FS 666), the trailhead is on the left near the road's end. Trailhead elevation is 8,089 feet. Access point #2 - Hwy 160 East for 10 miles; right on East Fork Road (FS 667) for 4 miles, trailhead is on right before the bridge over Sand Creek and elevation is 7,936 feet.
The Hike: 10 miles in length from Coal Creek Trailhead at Sand Creek to the trailhead on Fawn Gulch Road, this trail crosses the shoulder of a mountain. The trail ascends 2,800 feet and the highest point is 10,800 feet. Both ascent and descent are steep and can be slick when wet. The first stream from Fawn Gulch trailhead may be impassable.

4. TURKEY CREEK TRAIL (#580)
Breathtaking scenery and lush meadows.
To get there: Hwy 160 East for 7 miles; left on Jackson Mountain Road (FS 037) for 4 miles to road's end. Trailhead elevation is 8,240.
The Hike: Choose your own destination here. This trail is the longest in this section of the Weminuche Wilderness. It is 20 miles from the trailhead through breathtaking scenery to the Continental Divide at Piedra Pass. The first 3 miles is a moderate hike following above Turkey Creek, which will take you to a large meadow with expansive views and lush greenery. The trail ascends 5,000 feet and has several crossings and steep grades.

5. QUARTZ RIDGE TRAIL (#570)
Nice clamshell geological formations.
To get there: Hwy 160 East for 10 miles; turn right on East Fork Road (FS 667) for 4 miles, the trailhead is on the right before the bridge over Sand Creek. The trail is accessed at the Coal Creek Trailhead. Trailhead elevation is 8,153 feet.
The Hike: Out and back or shuttle hike. 15 miles in length, this trail begins at Coal Creek Trailhead and returns to East Fork Road further east, near the Silver Falls Guard Station and trail. This steep trail with several switchbacks goes up Sand Creek to Quartz Ridge before dropping down to East Fork. The last 1.5 miles passes through private property, so please stay on the trail. Highest point is 11,454 feet, ascending 3,518 feet.

6. TREASURE MOUNTAIN TRAIL (#565)
A spectacular trail to Windy Pass.
To get there: Hwy 160 East for 10 miles; right on East Fork Road (FS 667) for 7 miles. The trailhead is marked by a small sign on the left side of the road. 4WD vehicle is necessary. Trailhead elevation is 8,200 feet.
The Hike: After approximately three miles, the Treasure Mountain Trail from the northeast intersects the Windy Pass trail in a large scenic park. Windy Pass is about 3/4 of a mile to the west from this junction. You can return the way you came, or you can shuttle a vehicle to the Windy Pass Trail on Hwy 160 located west of Treasure Falls, across the highway from West Fork Road.
